The services of experienced men and natives of the island were secured, and very soon the proprietors of the FLAVINATION BITTERS were enabled to supply their laboratory with all the perfectly pure St. Croix Rum needed.

As an antidote to Fever and Ague, Intermittent and Malarious Fevers, Dysentery, and other kindred diseases, the use of the PLANTATION BITTERS is unsurpassed in the history of the world. Over five million bottles are disposed of annually in the United States and foreign lands, and among male and female. They are agreeable to the

The Great Storm.

The late storm appears to have been as destructive in portions of West as in Middle Tennessee. The Trenton Gazette of the 24th inst. says: "Our town and vicinity were visited on the afternoon of last Monday by one of the most destructive storms of wind, rain and lightning, that we ever witnessed, and it is our painful duty to report several serious casualties. Daniel Holder and Harry Wood had started home and took shelter in the corn house of Mr. Moore, which was blown down, killing Mr. Wood instantly, and breaking the leg of Mr. Holder."

Quite a number of chimneys, shade trees and some cabins in town were also blown down. In the country we hear of several farms which were badly damaged, the fences all being leveled to the ground, and houses unroofed. The heavy rain, which fell at intervals, has severely damaged the crops and caused greater freshets in the small streams than were expected.

The storm of Sunday night, occurring in this or adjoining counties, unfortunately there was very little wind, the destruction might have been much greater. The rain fell in torrents and with such force and volume as to wash away fences never before moved by the flood.

The Jackson Tribune says: "In Parlay houses were tilted from their foundations and twisted about promiscuously."

Union City Items.

A Louisville correspondent writing from Union City, says:

"Our little village has been putting on city airs again. About ten days ago one Mr. Powers, runner and collector for Messrs. Bloom & Co. of Paducah, Ky., disappeared mysteriously from Jackson, Tenn., where he was last seen. He had at the time about $7,000 with him, and it was supposed he had been tapped on the 'cock' and 'gone through,' and so, perhaps, he had, but it was with a perjured pen in lieu of a 'handy billy' and it so added him that he 'went off' with it, and Messrs. B. & C. have been unable to discover his 'terra incognita,' although they feel a very lively interest in the matter. He, Powers, was head partner in a billiard saloon in this place, and so great was the confidence in him, I suppose he could have obtained credit for $5,000. He leaves a wife at home. He was about fifty years of age—old enough to have known better."

One McDonald left here a few weeks ago for New York, with a drove of cattle, belonging to himself and other parties, and forgot to catch his horse. His wife left shortly afterward to join him. Neither have been heard from up to date. The two partners Messrs. Cannon & Roberts, each lost about $600.

The Louisville Express, is the title of a new paper just started in Louisville by W. G. Overton. In his salutatory, Mr. Overton says:

"I have purchased the controlling interest in the Louisville Democrat, which will hereafter be known as the 'Louisville Evening Express.' Just seven years ago I established a journal in this city under this title, which was built upon the ruins of the Louisville Courier. Its success was achieved with the publication of the first number, but its career was brief. Like its predecessor it fell the victim of political intolerance and military despotism—it was stricken down for opinions entertained, not expressed. It was crushed out not for what I printed but what it was thought I wanted to print; and so summary was the execution of the military order which suppressed my paper and consigned me to prison, that no opportunity was afforded for explanation."

Ex-President Johnson was in the act of addressing a crowd at Athens, Ala., when a dispatch was handed him announcing the death of his son Robert. He was so affected that he could not plain to them his affliction.

Without a Good Digestion.

All other temporal blessings are comparatively worthless. The dyspeptic millionaire who has tried all the poisons of the medical profession in vain, and believes his complaint to be incurable, would give half his fortune to be freed from the horrors of indigestion, and thus enabled to enjoy the other half. Of course he would.

Perhaps HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has been recommended to such a sufferer. Possibly he has turned from the friend who made the suggestion with a sneer, intimating that he has no faith in any "patent medicine." If this has been the case, so much the worse for him. His incredulity dooms him to a life of misery. All the luxuries which wealth can purchase are of no avail. Not one of them can give him pleasure. His own irrational obstinacy is his bane.

The medical, happily for themselves, are less skeptical. There is such a thing as bigoted unbelief, as well as bigoted credulity, and a golden mean between the two, which men and women who are gifted with common sense adopt and profit by. These are the class that patronize and recommend HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. Why do they approve this famous anti-dyspeptic and antibilious preparation? Simply because they have not been too much the slaves of senseless prejudice to give a fair trial, and have found that when all other tonics, stimulants and stomachics failed, it produced the desired effect.

"Strike, but spare," said the Roman sage, when his ignorant enemies were assailing him. "Doubt, but try," says the man who has been cured of indigestion, or biliousness, or intermittent fever, by the Bitters, as he relates his experience of the medicine to his invalid friends. Whoever is so wedded to his own foregone theoretical conclusions, as to decline to test the properties of a medicine endorsed by the testimony of intelligent men in every walk of life, and approved by the people at large, deserves to suffer.

WOMAN.

HEALTH, owing to the peculiar and important relations which they sustain to their peculiar organization, and the offices they perform, are subject to many sufferings. Freedom from these contribute in no small degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not only so, but none of these various female complaints can long be suffered to run on without involving the general health of the individual, and ere long producing permanent sickness and premature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of these various delicate affections, and only upon the most urgent necessity will a true woman so far sacrifice her greatest charm as to do this. The sex will thank us for placing in their hands simple specifics which will be found efficacious in relieving and curing almost every one of these troublesome complaints peculiar to the sex.

HELMOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.—Hundreds suffer in silence, and hundreds of others apply vainly to doctors and surgeons, who either merely tantalize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would do injustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced from excessive exhaustion of the system, by overwork, or by the use of tea and coffee, and frequent childbearing, it is far of easier caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vagina itself.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them. It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely afflict the female. The most common are, the early confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ballroom. Thus, with the body half-clothed, the mind unduly excited by gayety, and the pervading in midnight revels the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished.

In consequence of this early strain on her system, unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in such at a later day, thus aggravating the evil. When one excitement follows another in prospective keeps the mind morbidly sensitive to impressions, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength: the exposure to night air, the sudden change of temperature, the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect. At last, an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the unfortunate one, hitherto so utterly regardless of the plain dictates and remonstrances of the delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of young women.

Long before nature is able to exercise the functions of the generative organs, they require an education of their peculiar nervous system, composed of what is called the tissue, which is in common with the female breast and lips, evidently under the control of mental emotions and associations at an early period of life; and as we shall subsequently see, these emotions, when excessive, lead, long before puberty, to habits which sap the very life of their victims ere nature has self-completed their development.

For Female Weakness and Debility, Whites or Leucorrhoea, Too Profuse Menstruation, Exhaustion, Too Long Continued Periods, for Prolapsus and Bearing Down, or Prolapsus Uteri, we offer the most perfect specific known, HELMOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, or BUCHU EXTRACT, for use, diet, and advice accompany.

Females in every period of life, from infancy to extreme old age, will find it a remedy to add nature's strength to the glory of manhood and womanhood. HELMOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is more strengthening than any of the purgatives of the bark or iron. Infinitely safer, and more pleasant. HELMOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, having received the endorsement of the most prominent physicians in the United States, is now offered to afflicted humanity as a certain cure for the following diseases and symptoms, from what ever cause originating: General Debility, all communications. The Policy of "State Aid."
The friends of the measure challenge the discussion of the Policy of State Aid, and in glowing pictures represent the blessings to be dispensed to every neighborhood in the State. Let us not be deceived by the eloquent words and flowery diction of the writers. The strains are not unfamiliar—our people have heard such talk before. The time was when Mayfield Creek, Bayou de Chien, and every other branch in the Purchase was to receive "State Aid," but when the test came, only the rivers in Central Kentucky, and the turnpikes and railroads around Lexington, Frankfort, and Louisville, realized the "great blessing." They refer with pride to Georgia, Tennessee, and other States, as illustrations of the success of their system. The example of Tennessee is fresh in the minds of our people. Poor Tennessee! The hearts of her true sons are grieved at the humiliating spectacle she presents to-day. Her people groaning beneath the burden of an ever increasing and never ending railroad debt, that investment managed and controlled by "Railroad rings" eating out her substance, and at each succeeding Legislature demanding "more aid" to save that already invested, and the State fastened and fettered dures not refuse, except at the total destruction of her credit. Truly, the political dishonesty and corruption resulting from the system in Tennessee is an example, and a grievous one. Tennessee is a living witness of the ruinous effects of this policy; and we are well advised that such the example presented in Georgia, and other States.

We argue that it is bad policy for our State, already oppressed with taxes, to throw herself still further, by engaging in this sweeping Internal Improvement system. It must operate unprofitably. Only particular localities will be benefited, whatever promises may be made to the contrary. Would it not be a fairer and better policy, for those towns and sections which are to be actually greatly advanced, or who choose to believe so, whether erroneously or not, to build their own road at their own expense, and make all the profit from it which they can realize, and leave other communities and localities free to invest in their own improvement? The necessities of trade will be met, and the business in commerce will be promoted. The road, Columbus the Meane and Ohio, and Hickman her Nashville and North Western. Whenever the trade to Hickman or Columbus from Paducah and that direction is sufficient to demand a road between the points, we aided the capital which will come to us as a profitable investment will build the same. The stock is good, private capital will invest in it. We are a friend to promote, to all kinds of public improvements, but where a system is being pushed with so many dangers, prefer slow. Some towns swollen with the idea of their own importance, desire and their "protecting" wings over the cargo, and think they are conferring an inestimable favor upon the "surroundings," to carry them along. Cities are not made in a day, nor States enriched in an hour. Time must have her say. "Our endless resources," "the treasures locked up in the bowels of the earth," etc., etc., will, when the time comes, grant "aid to railroads," wherever necessity demands, and which will prove a profitable investment to all who contribute their means to its construction.

"The Credit of the State."
The Herald begs the question: "The Courier is correct in its criticism upon the phraseology of our article as to loaning the credit of the State. We were unfortunate in the word, and hasten to correct the error. Nor are the friends of State Improvements in favor of loaning the credit of the State to Railroads and Turnpikes. They wish the State to invest to the amount of one third in such improvements, and to take a mortgage upon the whole road, as security for the investment."

When it is known that the treasury of the State of Kentucky is to-day empty—not one dollar of cash money in it—the editor of the Herald must again be deemed unfortunate "in the word" invest. He is, however, well studied in the art of mystifying, for when we understand that the proposed investment is to be made from authority granted in sec. 36 of art. 2 of the State Constitution, which investment is expressly prohibited by the same section, unless provision be made at the same time to discharge its interest and principal "within thirty years," it is difficult to discriminate between this investment and loaning the credit of the State; and especially so, when the friends of the measure insist upon the State's "taking a mortgage upon the whole road, as security" that the investment will be returned, interest and principal, at the expiration of the thirty years. We do not believe any respectable number of disinterested lawyers can be found to confirm the Herald's position. The friends of this measure have one chance to obtain State aid, and that is by an amendment to the Constitution conferring the power. When the people do this, we shall bow to their judgment.

State Aid a Political Question.
We had not supposed that any one would attempt to make political capital out of the question connected with the material improvement of our State, and without comment we give some extracts from a leader in the Hickman Courier of yesterday, the 17th inst., in which the question of "State aid to railroads" is viewed in connection with the "Paducah Herald" as having a political bearing. The Courier says: "—Paducah Kentuckian."

The Kentuckian is evidently not mindful of the "political bearings" of the old Whig and Democratic parties of this State, which grew up many years ago relative to "Internal Improvements." The Whig party when in power inaugurated a system of Internal Improvements which then as now, was presented to the people with the glowing promise of enriching and beautifying every nook and corner of the State. Every creek in this end of the State was to be made navigable, and special appropriations urged for this purpose. The system was to dot our counties over with villages, fill them with manufactures, foundries and workshops, dig the coal and iron from our hills, plant our rich valleys and beautiful plains with corn, wheat and tobacco; our hill-sides with orchards and vineyards; and pour out millions of dollars amongst thousands of industrious workers, etc. These were the promises of the Whig party. The Democratic party, when in power, made a debt of about $9,000,000, and the whole of the money used for the benefit of special localities and corporations. The Democratic leaders of that day did not hesitate to hold the Whigs to a strict accountability for this extravagant use of the people's money in aiding "Internal Improvements," and did succeed in defeating that party, and riding into power, committed against the system, and asserting, per contra, that "the people can only be legitimately taxed to that extent which may be necessary to defray the indispensable expenses of the government." The Democratic creed was so understood and defined by leaders who had learned their principles in schools of statesmanship. They argued to the people the true nature of the attempts that were being made to warp legislation from its rightful course, and make it subservient to the interest of particular localities and private corporations; that when the law-makers lose sight of the principle of "equal and exact justice to all—exclusive privileges to none," the whole structure of government was endangered; that the system could not be made to operate equally upon all "classes and communities," that the rich sections might receive the aid and the poor ones be compelled to help pay it, thereby wresting from the poor their "property" and "compensation." I am sure that the Democratic party adhering to the Constitution, and the State aid to railroads, would be granted a warrant in the construction of Section 36 of art. 2 of the State Constitution, who by it is argued that State aid can be granted, might be admissible in an old Whig, but certainly not in a "strict construction" Democrat, albeit the late Gov. John L. Helm, the Whig Lieut-Governor of this State, characterized the construction "A proposition so ridiculous would hardly be carried into execution."

The position of the Democratic party was not necessarily one in opposition to Internal Improvements by the States, or "to all progress," but to the State of Kentucky engaging in the system, because they could not by a "strict construction" of that instrument, find any warrant in the State Constitution for the exercise of such a power. We are not unaware that the Hon. Jas. Guthrie, and others, differed from this view, but the body of the party adhered to Gov. Powell, Judge Hise, Col. Boyd, Col. John C. Noble, and others, in the position. Thus much in justification of our assertion that the proposition was anti-Democratic, and we have continued the argument only for this purpose, and not to charge the venerable editor of the Paducah Herald with a change of position, although in his issue of the 24th inst., he confesses, "The time was when we believed with Judge Hise, Colonel Turner," etc., the principles laid down by the Courier.

It is far from our desire to attack the consistency, or fealty, of our able, worthy, and venerable friend of the Herald. He has done too much good service for his party, for the State, and for his country, to be parted with so lightly. We would not abandon a well tried fowling piece because it missed fire one time, but would prime anew and try it again. May John C. Noble live many years to fire Daily shots into the ranks of the enemies of the Democracy.

Dominion of Canada.
OTTAWA, April 27.—Mr. Galt made a long speech in the Commons yesterday supporting his motion respecting the Fenian raids. He made an addition to his previous motion so as to include all correspondence between Canada and the United States during the Rebellion. He defended at great length the policy of Canada and closed by saying the course of the United States government appeared to be dictated by a desire to bring about the humiliation of England through her dependencies on this continent, but he did not believe the plan would succeed. England would not for a moment give way, and the people of Canada would sustain her to a man. Having repudiated the idea that the policy of Great Britain toward a dominion was one of abandoment, Mr. Galt closed amid loud cheering.

The Old Landmarks.
The Frankfort Commonwealth, the leading Radical organ of this State, commenting at some length upon our report of the public speaking at this place on the 12th ult., says: "Mr. Turner, according to the Courier, 'took in review the acts of the past Legislature, and with unglorious hands dealt trenchant blows to the enemies who have stolen into our camp and led the party away from their old landmarks.' Who are these 'enemies' that have so fully merited the displeasure of the Senator and been so productive of injury to the party? What wolf in sheep's clothing troubles the fold and keeps it in alarm?"

We advise the good people of Fulton to send a man in place of Mr. Turner! One of the six men in the county that voted for Grant last fall will be of more actual benefit to Fulton and her people. The language of the report is ours, and we are therefore called upon to notice the comments of the Commonwealth thus far. From an able editor in the Frankfort Freeman of last winter upon the subject of "Party Organization," the Democracy of the State were warned to be on the alert to "prevent strangers from carrying the party ship into unknown and charless seas." Hence, we trust not to be terrified at innovations" advocated by the Freeman, as suggested in the Commonwealth. The Democratic party hold to special principles, that were once held in most gorgeous tinsel, trumpet, and the sound of things most sacred, and held to be absolutely necessary, and the true policy upon which the government should be administered. The dangers of the times have brought to our side, and under the protection of our banner, the gallant remnants of old party organizations, who nobly propose with us to make a common cause against the common enemy; but who, it can not be expected, have buried the old dogmas of the party to which they belonged and which they held so dear. The history of the last Legislature undeniably establishes that upon all party test questions, some of these co-laborers never failed to thrust a spear into the side of the Democracy.

The Paducah Herald of the 22d ult., comments upon our article to the same purport. Perhaps, we were unfortunate in using too strong language. To the old adherents of other parties who have labored heroically to assist the Democracy to defeat Radicalism, the gratitude of the country is due, but they must not expect us to follow them from our old landmarks into their wild vagaries and extravagances, if they choose to lead.

"Keep Cool."
Some of the people of Graves county are getting excited over the question of the School Tax, Emigration, and Internal Improvement questions. We fear there is a desire to make these matters test questions in the legislative election, and that a good deal more stress will be put upon them than they deserve. If a majority of the party nominate a candidate, whether he agrees with you upon State policy or not, elect him; and then, if you still think a majority of the party is in favor of the measures which you favor, get up a memorial of "instructions" to him, and if he is a true Democrat he will obey them. If he will not be elected to represent the wishes of his constituents, and not his own particular opinions.—Paducah Herald.

This is, indeed, decidedly "cool," coming as it does, from a paper that has for the past few weeks devoted column after column to urging the counties to elect members to the Legislature committed in favor of granting State Aid to Internal Improvements! What is the matter? Is the venerable editor alarmed at the prospects of his "great measure" before the people, and has his "intimate knowledge of the feelings of the people of this district" failed him in "that they would accept the proposition almost unanimously?" Certainly, the editorial from which we extract, indicates an alarm! The iron horse which the Colonel is now astride is unmanageable beyond the paved streets of Paducah upon the rough roads of the country, and unless he "keeps cool" is in danger of a terrible fall.

"Down on your breaks," Colonel. "Down on your breaks!" The opponents of this "great measure" must not permit their interest in the question to abate. Every candidate must be made to declare clearly and unequivocally his position. The assumed indifference of the friends of the measure is not to be trusted. Those who remember their ridiculous maneuvering to force Gen. Preston's bill through the Lower House of the last Legislature, will not readily admit their willingness to obey "instructions."

"OUT OF THEIR OWN MOUTHS ARE THEY CONDEMNED."—The Paducah Herald urging upon the people of Kentucky the importance of taxing themselves to build railroads, refers them to Georgia, as a bright example of the policy, and says: "The railroads of Georgia, before and since the war, are now paying into the State Treasury a revenue which almost relieves her people from taxation."

The Paducah Kentuckian, which is a strong advocate of the policy of "State Aid," and the editor of which, we believe, had recently emigrated from Georgia to Kentucky, and therefore, should be good authority as to the operations of the system in that State, discussing the same question, says of one of those roads: "Georgia tried this in constructing the Western and Atlantic railroad, from Atlanta to Chattanooga, and the result has been the source of more political corruption and dishonesty in Georgia than anything else."

How better could the Herald's assertion be refuted, than by making a witness of its co-advocate, the Kentuckian. The twelve companies of militia stationed at Nashville is to be disbanded, subject to the call of the Governor, within the next ten days. They are only to be paid for the time they have been in active service. It will require from $50,000 to $80,000 to pay them off. The estimated cost of the whole militia force to date is $150,000. Five full companies will be retained in the service.

"Brown Stone Fronts."
In fact, with the State aid and that $10,000, Hickman herself may have a few "brown-stone fronts," and it will give us a great deal of pleasure, if one of these days, we shall be able to rest our boots under the "mahogany" of our friend Warren, in the "brown-stone front" of a true Democrat and first-rate editor.—Paducah Herald.

The editor of the Courier has no ambition to occupy a "brown-stone front" coerced by involuntary tribute from the people under color of "State aid." We wish Colonel Noble better. May the Daily Herald be richly sustained by Paducah, and may "Arcadia" bloom with every prosperity, and may the editor in his declining days have the consolation of knowing that not one cent of his luxurious surroundings was wrung from his already burdened fellow-citizens by the imposition of a galling indebtedness called "State Aid."

The Hickman Courier says the question of State aid to railroads must form an issue in the election for Representatives to the Legislature this year, and insists that candidates must declare their position upon the question.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

We renew the declaration. The people, of whatever party, opposed to imposing upon themselves an endless and burdensome tax to build up particular localities and private corporations, should arouse to action. They must demand to know the plain, qualified position of every candidate asking their suffrage upon this question. To this end our friends in every county should organize and put forward their candidates, and work to prevent these onerous burdens from being fastened upon the State. Let no man be deceived into inaction, or into supporting a "non-committal" candidate. The money and power is with these "Aid" schemers, and they will not hesitate to use every influence to carry their projects through before the people and in the next Legislature.

An intimate knowledge of the views of the great mass of the Democracy of this district, warrant us in saying that nearly all of them will go for State aid.—Paducah Herald.

During the past weeks we have conversed with leading Democrats from different parts of this District, Hickman, Graves, Marshall, Ballard, and Calloway, and an intimate knowledge of their views warrant us in expressing the opinion that your "State Aid" will not command a respectable vote outside the city of Paducah.

Paducah has the gravel roads on the brain.—Courier-Journal.

All well enough for you, Mr. Courier-Journal, to attempt sport at Paducah, when you are located in a section that has fine turnpike roads made with the money of the State.—Paducah Kentuckian.

All well enough for you, Mr. Kentuckian, to believe that your section ever will have turnpike roads made with the "money of the State," but our people, judging from the past, know differently.

No Proclamation.
It is said that President Grant has decided to issue no proclamation in regard to Cuba. None seems to be necessary. There is no evidence that any of our people have violated or even contemplated violating the laws of neutrality by getting up and organizing upon the soil of the United States or in the United States waters expeditions against the Spanish power in Cuba. There were recent rumors of such expeditions, but they have not been verified. Undoubtedly individuals, as such, have gone, and others will go to Cuba, and being there, may be expected to take part in the rebellion as they have a right to do, but in the exercise of this right they must be regarded as expatriating themselves and cannot, if any of the hard fortunes of war shall befall them, demand the protection of the United States. Our government to false to a large portion of its own people, will, we hope, keep faith with foreign nations, at the same time holding them strictly to all their responsibilities. Spain, before she can put down the insurrections in Cuba, will without doubt commit some and perhaps grievous wrongs against the Government or our people or both, but she will be quite sure, in every instance of aggression, to make such amends as the case shall justly require. She will be very carefully not to get up or to encourage a grave quarrel with the United States unless she shall have good reason to reckon England and France ready to stand at her back.—Courier-Journal.

There are enough railroads projected through different districts in Missouri to absorb in their construction all the personal property in the State.

J. C. Lovejoy has been removed from the custom house, Boston, and Charles Mitchell, negro, appointed.
